METROJET BECOMES HKCAD APPROVED BBJ MAINTENANCE FACILITY

HONG KONG, 28 March 2011 – Metrojet has received maintenance repair facility approval from the Hong Kong Civil Aviation Department (CAD) for HK registered Boeing Business Jets (BBJ).

The BBJ provides private owners, heads of state, corporate leaders and charter companies with an ultra- long-range airplane that offers three times the interior space of traditional business jets with similar range capability.

“Metrojet’s superior charter experience and service level offerings put the company in a great position in the Hong Kong market to support our BBJ customers,” said Capt. Stephen Taylor, president, Boeing Business Jets.

“The BBJ is a great aircraft to add to our fleet and it enhances our position to be the leading business aviation company in Asia,” said Björn Näf, CEO of Metrojet. “With the growing number of business jets in the region, Metrojet’s maintenance department is currently running a 24-hour operation with full night shift to provide a full range and timely maintenance service to business aircraft owners, including BBJ owners in Hong Kong.”

With more than 110 maintenance professionals, Metrojet operates the leading Asian corporate aircraft maintenance service center, facilitating regional AOG support for all business aircraft around the clock. Metrojet’s Maintenance Service Centre provides heavy/scheduled inspections and repair services and can be reached via its 24 hour customer support number at (+852) 2215 3838 or email at mx@metrojet.com.
